LA25 Tech Help!

Bidding begins at $25

Donated by Bob Lee

Bob is a super-cyber-security-geeky-tech guy and he is willing to help you with your tech-related project. Bob will spend up to 2 hours trouble-shooting, refining, improving, tweaking and just in general FIXING what's ailing your website, PC or maybe your tablet or phone. Or if you just want to collaborate and bounce an idea off someone with more tech scars than outdated computer cables, he can provide you with a sounding board that has been listening since the 1970's in the last century. And....if he can't fix it - you don't pay! :) Seriously, Bob is better than having a gen-Z-er at home to assist with your tech challenges - he won't eat everything in your fridge or leave his dirty socks under the coffee table (I hope).

LA38 Three Autumn Nights at West Virginia Mountain Retreat

Bidding begins at $50

Donated by Lynne and Jim Heltman

Three nights and four days this fall at our beautiful mountain cabin. The cabin (situated on 60 acres) has two bedrooms and a loft and sleeps 4 to 6 adults, or any combination of up to 8, with children. LA41 UU Values: Interdependence, Pluralism, Justice, Transformation, Generosity, and Equity, with Love at the Center

Donated by Claire Pullen

Sunnyhill's resident artist has done it again! Claire designed a beautiful botanical representation of our new UU Values. Basket includes framed 20x20" poster, 1 ornament, 1 8x8" framed print (magnetic back and hanging option), and stickers. Artist Statement: "I drew a botanical version of the Love at the Center concept with a rainbow of flowers growing from the center as a representation of our living principles, and I chose early-70s-style design elements to evoke a time of social progress and change that mirrors our current era. The flowers were deliberately chosen: a red rose reminds us to center love, an orange tulip signifies Article 2's renewal of our shared values, a yellow dandelion for our resilience in trying times, a green carnation for queer identity, a blue morning glory for respect of all living things, and the violet lavender signifies our own empowerment." Fun fact: the UUA has contacted Claire to negotiate an exclusive license for her Love at the Center design!
